In the early part of the war he [Rose-crans] gave some promise of being a great general. But stubborn facts diesipated the ideas thus formed. More than once he was saved by his lieutenants. At Stone River he would have lost the day without their aid. At Chickamangua he completely lost his head, and but for the aid of Thomas and Sheridan, the chances are that his entire army would have been captured.

As it was, he was shut up at Chattanooga, and nearly starved out. Rein-forcements from the Ea-t, under Gen. Susand, 237 N. Main street. Hooker, and from the Department of the Tennessee, from Vicksburg, under Railroad to Pasadena Will So Gen. Sherman, had to be hurried to the eaguered spot. General Grant was placed in command [relieving Rose-orans] and when he got ready he moved. All remember the magnificent result of that fight in the late days o ovember, 1863. Hooker carried the day on our right, scaled Lookout ntain, fought his "battle above the clouds," captured the enemy's batteries, and made for himself a name that will last as long as history is read. Thomas and Sheridan in the center ed the enemy's position on Mission Ridge, drove them over it and pur-d them with vigor. Sherman with sued them with vigor. Sherman with his gallant troops of the Department of the Tennesses, held our extreme left in this great battle, and although the enemy had massed upon him he never gave an inch. Chattanooga was not relieved, but saved. The gates to At-lanta and to Savannah, to Charleston and Columbia, and afterward to Richmond, were left ajar—and within a few months all those places were in the mia, one block from the "Arlington," offers possession of the Federal troops. Who special inducements to those who desire the commanded our armies in those days? manded our armies in those days? Ulysses S. Grant. We give due credit to his earnest and intelligent lieutenants, Sherman, Thomas, Sheridan, Hooker, Logan, and many others who might be named—but the master spirit of all was General Grant. Out of probled dicts because our problem. of all was General Grant. Out of probable defeat he produced victory. From starvation he wrought plenty. The distressed and dying or half-lamished soldiers of the gallant Army of the Cumberland, whom General Rosecrans had permitted to be shut up at Chattanooga, were relieved, fed and led up to victory. Where was General Rosecrans then! He had no part in those glavious victory. Where was General Rosecrans then? He had no part in those glorious schievements which opened the gateways to the sea, and made possible the results which culminated at Appomattor. The man who once loses his head when he is in command of a great army in the face of the enemy, is not fit to be trusted again in the same position. And General Rosecrans was never again trusted. Why should he have been?

The cause of his animus against General Grant is obvious. By his vote

> YOUNG MEN-To those young men who have suffered from year to year, and whose vital powers have beome impaired and nervous system unstring and broken down, and are suffering all the horors from the effects of youthful follies, come and see me. I have a sure preventative of prenature decay and early death. To those who, from indiscretion, have controlled private disases and are desirous of being cured, come without fail, for I canguarantee you a speedy cure.

CONSULTATION FREE.

Linvite sick, no matter what their diseases may be, to call and investigate for themselves before abandoning all hope, for it will cost you nothing. I give no encouragement unless there is a fair prospect of making a cure. I will endeavor to be candid in my opinion and reasonable in my charges. I claim not to cure everybody, but to cure all that can be cured. I am formerly from New York city, and a graduate of one of the best medical colleges in the United States, and a most thorough Electrician, and have had many years successful practice in the treat@ant of both acute and chronic diseases. To remove all doubts and convince my patients that I claim nothing but what I am, I refer to my diploms and the numerous recommendations in my possession, which will always be ready for inspection at my office.

I have locat d permanently in this city, and all I sak is that you give me a fair, unbiased trial, by which I hope to merit your confidence and give entire satisfaction to all suffering humanity. My reputation has been acquired by candid, honest dealing, and years of successful practive. I know the cause and the rem of needed, not by guess-work, but by years of experience in the treatment of various diseases.

Those unable to pay for treatment will be treated free of charge between the hours of 8 and 9 a.m. only.

As a matter of fact none of these allegations are correct. The Times wilfully misrepresents none; it is always open to conviction, and it never skurks. The conviction, and it never skulks. The version of the Morgan-Kinsella row first printed in these columns was that given by the Justice himself to the then Captain of Police, and should 96%@97c.

If you wish to state anything further than what you told the Captain of Police, I am here to take it down. The Times doesn't wish to misrepresent, but neither does it shirk responsibility."

The full statements then made by Mr. Morgan developed nothing essential beyond his story to the police, save a flat denial of the profamity and anti-Catholic remarks charged by Kinsella. The weakest point in his case is his going back to Kinsella's room, long after the assault, as if to renew the quarrel. NEW YORE, March 2.—Governments, dull, firm, unchanged. At opening in the morning the stock market was oull, heavy, prices for active shares showing in most cases a decline compared with Saturday afternoon's closing quotations of 'k to 'k'. After a further decline of small fractions the market rallied and at the same time became more active, but by midday it assumed a dull and heavy tone which continued until after 2 p. m: During the last hour previous losses were regalized in most cases and closing prices in the evening generally show slight advances compared with last week.

It is self-evident that a physician paying particular attention to a class of cases attains great skill, and physicians in regular practice all over the country, knowing this, frequently recommend cases to this oldest office in America, where every known appliance is resorted to, and the proved good remedies of all ages and countries are used. A whole house is used for office purposes, and all are treated with skill in a respectful manner; and, knowing what to do, no experiments are made. On account of the great number of cases applying, the charges are kept low, often lower than the skill and get a speedy and perfect life cure, that is the important matter.
